

JOHN P. CALLAHAN

STATEMENT OF QUALIFICATIONS

John Callahan has been a property and business owner in Springdale, Utah for the past 18 years where he and his wife, Harriet, have operated the Frontier Plunders Antiques, Inc. He is currently semi-retired and the Site Manager for Redhawk Apartments in Springdale.

Mr. Callahan has been involved in and worked with State, local and national politics for the past 30 years in various capacities. As President of a five (5) state Housing Authority Association, Mr. Callahan has lobbied Congress and Congressional Subcommittees, testifying to the need of funding for housing assistance to low income persons.

He has been the President of Boards of Directors for several social programs including Medical Clinics, Manpower and Employment Agencies.

Mr. Callahan's vast construction management experience has taken him to several States in various management positions, heading multi-million dollar projects mostly in residential construction.

Mr. Callahan, as President of Callahan Consulting Services, provided training and consulting services to many Public and Native American Indian Housing Authorities, and American Indian Tribes in the development of administrative programs that were geared to receiving Federal, State and private funds. His consulting included monitoring established programs to meet Federal and State regulations.